Market Review

The FBMS ("Index") fell 2.52% Month-on-Month ("MoM") to close at 11,124.41 pts in March 2025. The Index underperformed the MSCI Asia ex Japan Index, which fell 0.76% MoM in Malaysian Ringgit ("MYR") terms over the same period. Foreign investors remained net sellers of Malaysian equities with net sell flows rising 110.5% MoM to MYR4.6 billion while local institutions remained net buyers amounting to MYR4.3 billion during the month. Bursa Malaysia's average daily transaction value ("ADTV") grew by 5.1% MoM to MYR2.7 billion in March 2025. During the month, KPJ (+12.7%), PPB Group (+7.1%), and Time Dotcom (+5.4%) were the key gainers while key detractors were Axiata Group (-14.4%), Nestle Malaysia (-12.0%) and Hartalega (-16.0%). Sector wise, Energy (+0.5%) and Utilities (+0.2%) were the key performers, while Telecommunication (-6.4%), Finance (-4.9%) and Healthcare (-4.3%) were the key detractors. Major news in March 2025 was the announcement of Trump administration that reciprocal tariffs would be unfolded on 2 April 2025. Both Local and Foreign equity market reacted on the development of trade tariffs.

The Dow Jones Islamic Market Titans 100 Index ("Index") fell 7.04% MoM to close at 9,224.60 pts. The Index underperformed the MSCI World Index which closed -4.64% and S&P 500 index which closed -5.75% over the same period. The United States ("US") equity market fell in March 2025. The month was marked by heightened volatility following the Trump administration's announcement of expansive tariffs, sparking fears of inflation and economic slowdown. Ahead of 'Liberation Day' announcements from US President Trump planned for 2 April 2025, tariff sentiment fluctuated over March, with the main concrete addition a 25% tariff on import autos. MSCI Asia ex Japan slid marginally in March 2025. China was the top performing market, with resilience stemmed from targeted fiscal stimulus measures aimed at countering deflationary pressures and bolster domestic consumption, in addition to optimism in China's AI development. Korea fell during the month following Trumps' sectorial tariff announcement on Autos, with major export sectors dropping the most. Taiwan, was the worst-performing market, reflecting its heavy technology exposure and sensitivity to US-China trade dynamics. India recovered from the Feb 2025 selloff on the back of foreign buying and pro-investment policies introduced by the government.

Market Outlook

The Underlying Managers are cautious on equities as of the view that the uncertainties in relation to global trade tensions are unlikely to dissipate quickly and hence, equity risk premium warrants a higher level. Trump's tariff policy is expected to stoke inflationary pressure and hurt global growth. With stock markets already reflecting sharp declines and fears of a trade war mounting, investors are likely to remain wary in the short term. Export-heavy sectors such as technology and manufacturing, which depend on seamless supply chains and access to the U.S. market are particularly vulnerable. Meanwhile, The Underlying Manager believe domestic-focused sectors, including telecommunications and consumer staples, may exhibit greater resilience due to their reduced exposure to international trade shocks. Economies with proactive policy response such as central banks embarking on monetary easing cycle and potential stimulus measure from China could see partial rebound in investor confidence.
