The FBMS ("Index") gained 1.3% Month-on-Month ("MoM") to close at 11,438 pts in June 2025. The Index underperformed the MSCI Asia ex Japan Index, which gained 5.7% MoM in Malaysian Ringgit ("MYR") terms over the same period. Foreign investors turned net sellers of Malaysian equities with net sell flows of MYR1.3 billion while local institutions remained net buyers amounting to MYR1.7 billion during the month. Bursa Malaysia's average daily transaction value ("ADTV") declined by 13.9% MoM to MYR2.1 billion in June 2025. During the month, Axiata (+12.7%), Petronas Dagangan (+9.2%) and Kuala Lumpur Kepong (+6.3) were the key gainers while key detractors were PPB Group (-8.9%), Sime Darby (-2.9%) and Nestle (-2.4%). Sector wise, Utilities (+4.3%), Energy (+3.8%) and Technology (+3.4%) were the key performers, while Healthcare (-5.4%), Property (-0.3%) and Consumer (-0.3%) were the key detractors. Major news during the month included the expanded scope of the Sales and Service Tax ("SST") announced on 9 June 2025, the surprise attack by Israel on Iran's key military and nuclear facilities on 13 June 2025 followed by a ceasefire brokered by the US on 24 June 2025, and the implementation of a monthly (from half yearly) electricity tariff adjustment in Peninsular Malaysia on 20 June 2025.

Government Investment Issue ("GII") yield curve experienced a bear flattening trend early in the month as offshore investors and dealers actively took profit at the belly of the curve ahead of auctions, while onshore investors selectively bought longer tenors. Sentiment shifted mid-month with a rally across the curve driven by the de-escalation between Israel and Iran tensions coupled with softer Malaysian Consumer Price Index ("CPI") data, culminating in strong demand at the 10Y Malaysian Government Securities ("MGS") auction. On the currency front, Malaysian ringgit ("MYR") strengthened against the US dollar ("USD") by 1.09% to MYR4.2102. GII levels as at end June 2025 was: 3Y at 3.16% (-1 bp), 5Y at 3.28% (-1 bp), 7Y at 3.39% (-2 bps), 10Y at 3.52% (-2 bps), 15Y at 3.70% (-) and 20Y at 3.77% (-3 bps).

On the economic data front, Malaysia's foreign reserves increased by USD0.3 billion to USD119.9 billion as of 13 June 2025 (30 May 2025: USD119.6 billion). The reserves are sufficient to finance 5 months of retained imports and 0.9x of short-term external debt. Malaysia's headline inflation eased to 1.2% Year-on-Year ("YoY") in May 2025 (April 2025: 1.4% YoY). The deceleration was broad based across most CPI sub-indices, notably Personal Care, Social Protection & Miscellaneous Goods & Services, Education, and Food & Beverages. Core inflation dipped to 1.8% YoY in May 2025 (April 2025: 2.0% YoY). Malaysia's exports declined by 1.1% YoY in May 2025 (April 2025: +16.4% YoY) amid a pullback in front-loading activities ahead of the expiry of a 90-day truce in US reciprocal tariffs. Imports grew steadily at 6.6% YoY in May 2025 (April 2025: 20.0% YoY) on stronger imports of capital goods, partially offset by consumption and intermediate goods. As a result, trade balance narrowed to MYR0.77 billion (April 2025: MYR5.1 billion), the lowest monthly level since November 1997. Market Outlook

We are cautiously optimistic on equities, as recent developments in the US-China trade talks have helped avert a worst-case scenario and reduced the likelihood of a US recession. These developments have also helped stabilize the trend of negative earnings revisions. Nonetheless, some risks persist. The US-China negotiations remain fragile, and any unexpected setback could quickly escalate tensions. Furthermore, the ongoing effects of trade tariffs are already weighing on corporate sentiment, leading to capital expenditure cut and a more subdued business outlook. Additionally, Trump tariff is expected to stoke inflation, which could limit macroeconomic policy flexibility. We continue to adjust the portfolio proactively to manage risks and capture opportunities as they arise.

Malaysia's economic outlook remains cautious amid persistent global uncertainties. Although geopolitical tensions have eased and trade negotiations between the US and China are ongoing, external demand remains weak, weighing on Malaysia's export performance. Following Bank Negara Malaysia ("BNM")'s May 2025 Monetary Policy Committee ("MPC") meeting, the central bank highlighted downside risks to growth due to softer global demand, elevated uncertainty, and early signs of moderation in private consumption and investment. Against this backdrop, BNM is expected to cut the policy rate in 2H2025, which should be supportive for the local sukuk market. However, volatility is likely to persist in the near term as markets react to further developments in trade negotiations and key economic data releases.
