Market Review

The FBMKLCI ("Index") gained 1.6% Month-on-Month ("MoM") to close at 1,532 pts in June 2025. The Index underperformed the MSCI Asia ex Japan Index, which gained 5.7% MoM in Malaysian Ringgit ("MYR") terms over the same period. Foreign investors turned net sellers of Malaysian equities with net sell flows of MYR1.3 billion while local institutions remained net buyers amounting to MYR1.7 billion during the month. Bursa Malaysia's average daily transaction value ("ADTV") declined by 13.9% MoM to MYR2.1 billion in June 2025. During the month, YTL Corp (+27.5%), YTL Power (+24.4%) and Axiata (+12.7%) were the key gainers while key detractors were PPB Group (-8.9%), Sime Darby (-2.9%) and AMMB (-2.7%). Sector wise, Utilities (+4.3%), Energy (+3.8%) and Technology (+3.4%) were the key performers, while Healthcare (-5.4%), Finance (-1.1%) and Property (-0.3%) were the key detractors. Major news during the month included the expanded scope of the Sales and Service Tax ("SST") announced on 9 June 2025, the surprise attack by Israel on Iran's key military and nuclear facilities on 13 June 2025 followed by a ceasefire brokered by the US on 24 June 2025, and the implementation of a monthly (from half yearly) electricity tariff adjustment in Peninsular Malaysia on 20 June 2025.

Global equity markets advanced in June 2025, with the MSCI AC World Index rising 4.4% MoM. The S&P 500 surged 5.0% MoM, driven by cooling inflation data that bolstered expectations for a potential US Federal Reserve ("Fed") rate cut later this year. Investor sentiment remained upbeat, supported by sustained AI optimism and strong performance from mega-cap tech stocks. The MSCI Asia-ex Japan Index climbed 5.7% MoM in US dollar ("USD") terms, with Korea and Taiwan emerging as the top-performing markets. Korea entered a bull market in June 2025, boosted by renewed foreign inflows following President Lee's inauguration. Taiwan gained on AI optimism and steady demand for yield-oriented Exchanged-Traded Funds ("ETFs"). China and Hong Kong also posted gains, supported by moderation in geopolitical tensions, Southbound inflows and a low HIBOR environment. ASEAN markets trailed the region, with Indonesia underperforming, weighed down by weakness in the banking sector.

Market Outlook

Recent developments in the US-China trade talks have helped avert a worst-case scenario and reduced the likelihood of a US recession. These developments have also helped stabilize the trend of negative earnings revisions. Nonetheless, some risks persist. The US-China negotiations remain fragile, and any unexpected setback could quickly escalate tensions. Furthermore, the ongoing effects of trade tariffs are already weighing on corporate sentiment, leading to capital expenditure cut and a more subdued business outlook. Additionally, Trump tariff is expected to stoke inflation, which could limit macroeconomic policy flexibility. We continue to adjust the portfolio proactively to manage risks and capture opportunities as they arise.

As for Malaysia, we remain cautiously optimistic on the equity market, though near-term volatility is expected to persist amid ongoing uncertainties surrounding AI diffusion policy, global trade negotiations, and domestic growth momentum. While the pause in tariff escalation provided some relief, the lack of clarity on long-term trade frameworks continues to weigh on investor sentiment. Additionally, recent corporate earnings results have been mixed, with several large-cap names reporting margin pressures due to rising input costs and softer external demand. We continue to actively position the portfolio to navigate evolving risks while seeking opportunities in high-quality domestic names. Our focus remains on sectors with strong fundamentals and policy tailwinds, while maintaining a disciplined approach to risk management considering ongoing macro and geopolitical uncertainties.
