Market Review

The FBMKLCI ("Index") surged 3.0% Month-on-Month ("MoM") to close at 1,642.33 points in December 2024. The Index outperformed the MSCI Asia ex Japan Index, which rose by 0.7% MoM in Malaysian Ringgit ("MYR") terms over the same period. Foreign investors stayed net sellers of Malaysian equities amounting to RM2.9 billion during the month. Bursa Malaysia average daily transaction value ("ADTV") fell 5.6% MoM to MYR2.5 billion in December 2024. During the month, YTL Power (+30.0%), YTL Corp (+28.4%) and Petronas Chemical (+10.9%) were the key gainers while key detractors were PPB Group (-5.5%), RHB Bank (-4.1%) and QL Resources (-2.3%). Sector wise, only the Finance sector did not record a gain in December 2024, with the three best-performing sectors being Technology (+11.1%), Healthcare (+10.5%) and Utilities (+8.6%). Key news during the month included the Ministry of Finance said that RM10.8bn had been withdrawn from EPF's Flexible Account (Account 3) as of end-September 2024, Malaysian Investment Development Authority ("MIDA") reported that Malaysia's approved investment rose 10.7% Year-on-Year ("YoY") for 9M24, and the U.S. Federal Reserve cutting its benchmark interest rate by 25 basis points to 4.25% to 4.5%.

Market Outlook

We are cautiously optimistic about the equity market, though volatility is expected in the near term due to uncertainties around geopolitics, Trump's policies, and macroeconomic conditions. Investors are closely monitoring global tariff policies for signs of inflationary pressure and its impact on global growth. We also expect performance divergence between developed and emerging markets, including currencies, whilst maintaining a positive outlook for the US market, post US-election, due to pro-domestic growth policies. In Asia, geopolitical tensions and a strong dollar may weigh on Asian equities. Rate cut cycle in a non-recessionary environment is typically positive for equity markets and most currencies. The Chinese government continues to roll out fiscal stimulus, with a focus on supporting capital markets, consumer consumption and stabilising the property prices. Its outlook remains challenging structurally. For Malaysia equities, although our optimism on equities has moderated, we remain positive due to strong corporate earnings, government initiatives, and rising foreign direct investment. The successful implementation of key initiatives, such as the National Energy Transformation Roadmap ("NETR"), Malaysia My Second Home ("MM2H"), and infrastructure projects, will be imperative for continuous Gross Domestic Product ("GDP") growth. We expect a brighter outlook given the lower political risk premium amidst a more stable unity government coupled with stronger corporate earnings upside arising from the implementation of the government's growth initiatives and a rising foreign direct investment. The execution of National Semiconductor Strategy ("NSS"), infrastructure projects rollout and the much-anticipated petrol subsidies rationalization will be watched closely. Downside risks to the market could stem from a hard landing US recession, worsening geopolitical tension, weaker than expected China's stimulus measures, and poor execution of domestic growth initiatives.
